A Polyresin prop replica of the iconic Dwarven sword wielded by king Thror in The Hobbit: An Unexpected Journey, now inherited by his grandson Thorin Oakenshield in The Hobbit: The Battle of the Five Armies. The design of this richly detailed prop represents the regality of the Dwarven kingdom of Erebor, featuring an ornately sculpted raven hilt with gold accents and a gold inlaid blade. Crafting this massively thick sword blade in real steel was not possible outside of Middle-earth, so we have exactly replicated the uethane and aluminum filming prop in polyresin with screen-accurate detailing, hand-painted colors, and weathering effects. Comes with a 3-dimensional poly stone wall display sculpted to match the styling of Thorin's regal war shield. Each piece is individually serial numbered and includes a certificate of authenticity.
